themselves. Let those who are benefitted by the correspondence pay for it.

Mr. Hale moved to amend by changing the time to April. If it extended to the first of May it would be after the Charleston Con-vention, and the Democrats would have ben-having been improperly introduced. If the proposition had so much grit it might carry itself through.

Mr. Collamer said there were special laws requiring the Treasury Department to pay over seven hundred thousand dollars to the Post Office Department on account of the transportation of free matter. If the amendment passed, those laws still existed and the Treasury would not be relieved. The sub-ject was one requiring preparation and exam-ination and ought to be considered by itself.

Mr. Davis advocated the adoption of the amendment now, they could then go on and perfect the system. The amendment proposed, first, the reform of an abuse, and secondly, the change of policy of administering department. The abuse of privilege was in the burdening of the mails with a large mass of documents.

Mr. Collamer explained, that previous to 1851 the Post Master General was limited in giving out contracts by receipts of department; but when three-cent postage was established in 1851, it was provided that the mail service should not be reduced. The consequence was, that the Post Master General had unlimited discretion, and could, if the chose, increase the expenses to twenty or thirty millions.

Mr. Collamer moved an amendment, repealing the act 1847 and 1851, appropriating $700,000 annually for the use of the Post Office Department.

THE ST. CLAIR FLATS APPROPRIATION .-Our readers will probably recollect that at the close of the last session of Congress a bill was passed making appropriations for deepening the channel over the St. Clair flats, Michigan, which bill the President did not sign but retained in his possession. He yesterday sent to the Senate an explanatory message on the subject, of which the following is the substance: The President doesns it a sufficient reason The President deems it a sufficient reason for having retained the bill, that it was not presented to him until the last day of the former Congress, when he had no opportunity to examine it. Its says that a constitutional mode exists, by which the Legislature of Michigan may, in its discretion, raise money to improve the channel in the St. Clair river. He does not mean to intinate a doubt of the power of Congress to contract such internal improvements as may be essentially necessary for defense and protection against internal improvements as may be essentially necessary for defense and protection against the investor of a foreign enemy. It would carriedly be claimed, however, that the interprovement is within this category. This river is the boundry line between the United States and the British Provinces of Upper Canada. A CONTINUOUS RAILBOAD FROM MAINE TO Louisiana.-A dispatch from Chattanooga says that the gap in the Mississippi railroad was unished on Saturday, and the connection through to New Orleans is now complete. The time between New Orleans and Philadelphia by this route will be only eighty hours. By the completion of this link there is now a continuous railroad from Bangor, Maine, to New Orleans, except four short ferries at Hudson River, the Susquehanna, the Fotomec and James Rivers. This vast Chicago papers don't. chain of railroads is composed of eighteen independent roads, costing in the aggregate for 2,394 miles of roads, $92,784,084, or nearly our-tenth of the whole railway system of the United States, of which 1.996 miles are used in this continuous line.

Taxes-When Collected. For the Sentinel.

Mr. Editor:—The time now fixed by law for the collection of taxes in this State, is doubtless the very worst that could have een determined upon. Every tax payer knows, by experience, that it is much more difficult to obtain money in December and January, than in any other months of the year. Any other time can just as well be specified by the Legislature. September and October would be far better. Then money is more plenty and casier to be obtained, and the taxes would be less burdensome, and more promptly paid. The County Treasurers could then make their settlements with the State before the first day of January in each year, thus making the fiscal correspond more practically with the political year. But the great advantage would be in the fact that the people could then more easily obtain the money to pay with. Would it not be for the interest of the State, and wisdom on the part of the present Legislature, to so amend the bly waxing, both in strength and vigor. In the California papers we find a variety of agricultural statistics. The wheat crop is 5,000,000 bushels, a gain of over 50 per c-ut. on any pr. vious year. The less important erop of barley has somewhat fallen off, but the total product of cereats is largely increased. It is clear that California, unless under some extraordinary visitation, will always more than supply herself with food. This, with her gold crop, will make her if This, with her gold crop, will make her, if she chooses to be, absolutely self-supporting. Gradually introducing, first the coarser and even were there not added the religious consideration. then the finer manufactures she will one day destined to become one of the greatest fruitgrowing countries of the world. Already the eye of the stranger is attracted at every turn by Ler pomological richness and variety. Of grapes she is particularly fertile; and even the mining counties, especially El Dorado, produce the finest qualities. California will Loon manufacture and export wine, as one of her leading staples, and she is sure, in this respect, to be the France of America. Thus are the extremes, as well as the heart of our confederacy, filled with active movement, and daily growing in population, wealth and power. Letween these two extromes, over a stretch of nigh 3,000 miles, the whole land is one great field of industry, and that industry, how vast and varied. The coldest imagination kindles at the thought of the position which this country will fill among the nations, if she shall guide howself by wise, peaceful, and kindly counsels.

About ten years since they moved to this city with the intention of settling here, but soon after their arrival received letters that led to their return arrival received letters that led to their return to the old country. The girl, now about seven years of age, was left in this city with a German family named Klengenhieffer, the foster parents hoping that the father would appear some day and claim her. With this family she has lived to the present time, and has grown to be a handsome young lady of the corner of the Rue Vivienne, her ostenible object being to fetch water from the fountain, come sixty an or seventeen summers.

this is the very last crime they are likely to conneit. It is far more probable that any risveholder who should show himself in our in-ighborhood would get a mark which he would carry to his grave, if it did not carry which she wore. His curiosity was gratified which she wore. His curiosity was gratified on Sunday evening the intended bridegroom was talking with the intended bride, when his attention was attracted to a locket which she wore. His curiosity was gradified by the locket being opened, and a miniature portrait of a lady revealed. He turned pale at seeing it and could scarcely speak. It was before her death. Farther inquiries disalosed the fact that it was the portrait of the young the fact that it was the portrait of the young lady's mother, and that the man had been almost miraculously saved from the horrible crime of marrying his own daughter.

But everything serious has its Indicrous aspect—which is by no means original, altho' it is eminently truthful; and a smile will ob-trude itself upon the seriousness of the relicetions raised by this prayer, as one thinks how singular it would be should the House organize to-day under the anspices of a He-brew prayer, when eight weeks of Christian ministrations have failed! Particularly, too, when one remembers by a judicial obiter dictum Christianity has been declared a part of the Common Law of the land.

Students Expelled! Kenyon College, located at Gambier, has been the sounc, during the, week, of quite a tumuit between the students and faculty, re-sulting in the expulsion of about fifty of the classes in a body. After the concert was out, it being somewhat late, the students of both classes got together and resolved that they would not recite on the following morning, feeling, perhaps that the task of getting their lessons would be too much for their delicate constitutions. The whole of the sophomore class and a great portion of the freshmen, en-tered into this compact. The next morning, as the two classes failed to make their ap-pearance in their recitation rooms, an ex-Now Mexico, who penetrate nearly to the frontier settlements of Texas, to supply these Indians with everything they need, in exchange for stock brought from these forays against the Texans, and in many cases the sweat is not dry on the animals thus produced, before they change owners in this "laudable manner."

The bodies of the celebrated Monsieur and Madame Necker are not buried, but pickled!
They are both in a great vat of wine at Coppet, on Lake Geneva, near the late residence of Madame de Stael. The curious—and they are not few—rush there to see this most painful as well as disagreeable of sights. It was so much the desire of Monsieur Necker that he and his wife should be pickled in this strange manner, that, fearing his own family might not carry out his wishes, he left a certain sum to be paid yearly to the town for the supply of a certain quantity of spirits of wine for that purpose. The vat is placed in the grounds close to the house, and partially hid by trees which his grandson, Monsieur le Baron de Stael, has planted around it.

It was at Bentham's request that the skeleton, dressed in the same dress he habitually wore, stuffed out to an exact resemblance of life, and with a portrait mask in wax, sits there as assistant to Dr. Smith in the entertainment of his guests and companion of his studies. The figure leans a little forwards, resting the lands on a stout stick which Bentham always carried, and had named 'Dawdle.' A MAN FLOATS OFF ON AN IGE CARE, AND Is RESCUED.—Capt. Henry Fox, one evening last week, was crossing Sandusky Bay on the ice, when it suddenly split, and the small pieces on which he stood floated out into clear water. His cries attracted the attention of Mr. DeWitt, who resides in Ottawa City, and he, with several others, set out to rescue the unfortunate man. A small boat was the unfortunate man. A small boat was dragged over the ice until they broke through when they climbed into the boat and broke a channel thro' the ice with their boot-heels. The man was found on a small viceo of ice, about a mile from the shore, and almost help-less from cold. The return to the shore was attended with considerable danger, the boat being old and leak and the considerable danger. being old and leaky .- Cleveland Herald.

He says she swore to untruths to obtain it, and that he was not quite such a brute as she represented. He also objected that she had a great fauit, which was that of "showing her legs" in crossing gutters and getting into or out of cars and carriages! To rebut this charge the lady's counsel put in one of Sir Hugh's letters to his wife, in which he said:

"Ah, Tit, if you only would believe I love, our journals took up the cry, moved thereto

Then the existement hoated over the sea; our journals took up the cry, moved thereto by the sloppy condition of the city streets. "Balmoral forever!" The importers at once entered huge invoices. A scarlet petitional hung in every retail store. So far, so good; but here arose a difficulty. The belles of Broadway recognize Victoria as Defender of the Faith, but not as Expounder of the Fashions. Vet they wanted to wear the Bolmeions. Yet, they wanted to wear the Balmo ral when they thought of daily hedshild skirts, and lace edgings ruined forever; but Engenie had not said the word. No one dared to make the first exhibition of the new dared to make the first exhibition of the new garment. Who should bell the cat? What would Mrs. Grundy say? While these questions raged, the Spring came on; the season was over; shop-keepers packed away the useless kirtles with many a sigh; the things were a failure—they manifestly had not become the race.

One of the most wonderful things about all. At Kirwee, the amount of preperty captured appears to have been enormous. The prize money is so immense that Lord Clyde's share, as Commander-in-Chief in Iudia, will alone amount to £120,000, Sir George Whiteleast Commander in Claps and the cately and the cately share being half of that sum. Capture in its doctrines as the cately in the cately and have been no such vast amount of study and tains' shares are estimated at between £3,000 research expended upon it as has kept the and £4,000, and subalterns' at a proportion— Christian world busily thinking, discovering and disputing for eighteen centuries. An English antiquarian who has made a list of works upon the Bible or portions of it, states that their number is not less than 60,000.— On the first five books, twenty-five hundred different works have been published; and this, exclusive of commentaries on the whole Bible; and not less than five thousand works upon the Psalms. The evangelical prophet Isalah has had two thousand commentaries; and about six thousand different volumes have been published on the four Gospels, as a whole, and Matthew, in particular, exclusive of commentaries on the whole New Testament and the other Gospels single. There have been about three thousand works on Remans, and two thosand on Revelations.

DIRT AND TOBACCO LIFE-PRESERVERS. It was paragraphed lately, that an encentric German lady, who is a great traveler, was taken prisoner by the savages of Australia, and set apart to be roasted and eaten! But when they came to strip her, they took a disgust and let her go. Of these same savages we have another anthropophagous report. "I have been told," says Mr. Mereweather, (a Missionary) "that the blacks cannot endure a white man's flesh. They say it tastes very salt, and is highly flavored with tobac-co." So, that after all, the adultanted weed, if it shortens life in some cases, may in other cases act as a charm for preserving it against the violence of oboriginal epicures.

UNDER THE SNOW. The sky looks pale through a misty veil,
The winter wind wails loud,
And cloud shapes grieves, as they rapidly weave
The cold, still earth a shroud. New spirits in white, with foot-steps light, Come trooping down the sky; Like shapes of a dream, or like an gels they seem, As they float so alrly by.

Oh, the winter snow! the winter snow! We loved it once full well! And with childish shout ringing merrily out, Hailed the licecy shower as it fell.

But now since we know that under the snow, Hid from the light of day, There are treasures fair, treasures most rare, In darkness hidden away! Our gladness is o'er, we love no more To see the snow fall come; For a heavy chill, and a sense of iil, It brings to our heart and home.

Oh, the treasures fair! the treasures rare Hidden under the soow, Are not the sweet flowers that in summer hours Set mount and mendow aglow. Something more bright to our yearning sight, Something far dearer than they, Is lying low, under the snow, On this block, and winter day.

And we think with dread of the blossoms dead, Under this covering chill, What a deeper wee must our sad hearts know, ' For that something dearer still! Oh, snow-finkes fair! fall light as nir— Fall light and soft, I pray, On the treasures we yet so wildly regret, Buried and hidden away!

TO ONE WOMAN'S HEART.

LCONTINUES. 1 "If you don't pay me this bill I shall make it my business to let your folks up town know your character." He did nt get any farther than that, on account of an accident that happened. Retribution came upon him between his two eyes, and he laid down a moment to recuperate. It was foolish, I admit Lem, but it was unavoidable at the time. Gatherum preserved his aquanimity, picked up the crystal of his watch and went for an officer. Not to dwell on details. I was arrested for assault and battery at the Post Office half an hour afterwards, while I was reading a note from Mery appounding that she was in town, and desiring me to accompany her to Lazylake.

This put a new face on the matter. I could'nt think of an arrest. Gatherum "rather guessed he had me now," but offered to consider the assault square if I'd setile the bill, and pay for the watch crystal. I thought over my friends. Jerry Northeral, I didint know where to find. Lampblack and Bones, of the His Weekly Conservator, mus nt hear of the affair. Polyglott and Pica of the New Monthly, never did anything in the loaning line .-Tender and Greenway, where could I find them, and if found-pshaw! There was nobody but Dolly Snig. See me once more at the door of my charmer. I smiled sweetly on her, she looked surprised. "Miss Snig." I began, "I may have wronged you in my haste to get away, but let my haste to get back atone for the error. You are a friend of mine, I might say best, my only friend," (she looked delighted.) "I fear I may have wounded you by my strange actions to-day." "Why Chartsey, what can make you think of such athing ?" she replied in creamy acconts, leading the way to the parlor.

"Why Chartsey, what do you want ?"

"I want lifty dollars !" You should have seen the spasm my peou. MANUFACTURERS OF SOAP AND miary sentence evoked. She tried to smile M. R. R. dopot, Milwaukee. and the consciousness that there was nt any pest. We looked at each other, not unlike a pair of ossified caricatures, for the space of a moment, when she said-"I see, you want me to lend you fifty dollars as a friend."

"My dear Dolly, your eyesight does you redit. May I rely on your friendship?' "You may," she answered, "but it must be reciprocal. I have a favor to ask of you." "You have only to name it Dolly."

She brought a chair up and seated herself close in front of me. "It is this," she continued. "I am a persecuted woman and have not a disinterested friend in the world to assist or advise me.-I want you to promise me that you will assist me at any time I may need your services as a staunch friend—promise Chartsey and I am yours." "I promise-but what is the danger." Dolly burst into tears, I was amazed .-Trouble was a new phase. How a woman Good Business Faper; will negotiate the sale of Stocks, Bonds and Mortgages East.

So also Atent for the sale of Filtadelphia Fire Proof and Burgar Froot Champion Safes, suitable of Fire and cheers, ledge one of the best kinds would not explain then, but having made of Fire and Burgar Froot cales considered made in america; at prices from 350 to 500 and a constant of the promise to await her and obey her communications. with a fortune just showered upon her could mands, she promised to reveal something to me in the future, and went into the adjoining parler to write out a check. While there, > the door bell was violently rung, and was succeeded by a heavy step in the hall. Imagine my surprise when I saw, through the opening in the grooved doors, between the parlors, a man enter the room where Dolly was, who answered to your description sin, of Hartington, even to the palm leaf hat which he carried under his arm. Dolly came in immediately after, closing the doors quickly after her, and handed me the check with troubled look and an apology for the sudden intrusion of business which would deb2r her from enjoying my society. She saw me out, and before I left, shung to my hand with such a pitiable look and begged me so earnestly to come again as soon as possible, that nestly to come again as soon as possible, that I could not find it in my heart to refuse her. What do you think of that, Lem ? Does it promise anything? Smell you not an adventure? Here ended the misfortunes .--Dolly's fifty dollars paved the way to a change. I met Mary, and we hurried off together." During the narrative of this episode Chartsey and myself had walked away from the house in the direction of the stream. We had reached the summer house which we had been in the habit of frequenting together, and which he had named "The Temple of Endymion." Throwing himself on his favorite seat, he continued: "I say, it was the greatest piece, of good fortune to pick up Mary again, hey, Lem ?" "Why, yes, it was a good fortune, but It seems so completely selfish to say so, that I hesitate." I answered.

"There you betray yourself. Why should you let your selfishness mirror your thoughts. Mary will be a gracious presence, an autumn fullness of radiance, music, glorious tinting, permeating poetry to me. But to you a ministering angel. A fortuitous arrangement of hoped-for events—a step nearer success.*1 "I don't know that I exactly comprehend what you mean by success," I said, though

This was too near the truth to be agreeable. It piques one to have another discern what is fondly hidden away in the breast, and instead of pouring out my matured plans to Chartsey; instead of unveiling, as I had intended, the inner temple where was en shrined a sovereign passion. all the incense of our familiarity by a worse than vandal vanity. If you have not planned and mapped out a system of love and tinted it with promises of success and happiness, you are not human. You have! Why not as cept my company as aid-de-camp? Do you suppose that I, in my airy indifference, cannot comprehend the world of possibilities about you, which are to be turned into poignant wees or great, fathemless joys? Love is a recluse. I grant, living in caves of sombre doubts, only to render the excursions in the mellow valleys, among the sunny blossoms, all the more precious. But the hermit would attain his paradise sooner if he accepted counsel. Take my word for it." "Chartsey, we stand uncovered together. I have nothing to reveal, unless it be that since you have been gone I have strayed under the same tropical sun and been melted." "I knew it," he rejoined, "Your face told it, the moment I saw you. It will be new blood in the veins of Lazylake, and as you have determined how you are to pass the it me so as to enjoy love's company, let me know all about it !?? TTO BE CONTINUED.

Curresponding week last year ...... 1_crease....$10,165 05 Commercial.

Bereipts by Ruilroad for the 24 hours ending noon to-day include:

to day, owing mainly to the same cause which retardbelieves received some encouragement from the more believes received some encouragement from the more less twater St., Martin's Block, believes to the New York report, and yesterday's MLWAUREE, WISCONSIN. catable quotations were firmly maintaload, No. 1 Spring solding on the track and in store at 99c; No. 2 at 15c; and flatra delivered at $1,51. The latter was very dell, the only demand for it being for milling, and some of the millers timited their offers to $1. In course grains the trude was light. A little oats sold at 34c d-livered. A couple of hundred bushels of barler, something better thru No. 1 sold at 60c, and 62% a is the outside price browers will offer for Extra. No sales of core. Rye was not quite so firm, quoted at 80@81c. Figur was dell and unchanged. A few small sales of Faring Extra occurred at $1,50@4,59 for good cruntry to common city brands.

Dressel higs touched rather a higher point than befare reached this season, the sales showing a range of $6 to $6,75 for averages of 150 to 260 lbs and upwards. We heard of no transactions in provisions. Mess pork is Le'd family at $17,00.

THE FORMUN TRADE IS 1550,-The New York papers publish the following table showing our trade with the threign world in 1859. The figures will be perused with interest-especially by the mercantile portion of our readers. It will be noticed that our exports to England exceed our imposts from that country by upwards of finy millions of dollars, including of course specie or hely minima of nones, mentions of colors special mad button, much of which must have been to meet former indebtedness:

But Goods Imports. -- The imports of Dry Goods, a New York for the month of January just past, were larger by upwards of one million dollars, than the agregate for any previous January in the history of the trade. The largest previous total was in January, 1850.
The sotal for the four weeks amounts in $11,770,005.— The Josephi of Commerce says "there is no overstock asinucle as the withdrawai from warehouses during the peris are needed for immediate consumption."

Curcago, February 5th,-Receipts include: $09 bbts figur, 5,002 bus wheat, 28,601 bus corn, 6,061 bus cats, Curcino, February 6th.—Receipts include: $69 bbts flour, 5,992 bus wheat, 25,501 bus corn, 5,001 bus onts; 1,148 bus rye, 500 bus barley.

The receipts of hogs, live and drossed, since Saturdey, amounted to 1,254. The demand for drossed hogs was more insisted, on account of packers beloifing oil, and prives ranged about 5c balow Saturday's quantition—spites being made at $60,573. Live hogs were in builted supply, and the hearket was firm at $20,5,78 pross. The market for beef cattle was anosually access, and several lots of prime were sold at 4c gross. In Provisions we have nothing to report. The dull of the market for all lands of produce numerally against a $1,50 and $1,50 per content of the market for all lands of produce numerally renders the markets for all lands of produce numerally renders at $1/2 and $1/2 packed, but they are less urgent in their inquiries. Lard is cleady at 16c, at which figure we report a sale of 100 bbts, not a sirelly prime. Tallow is quiet but firm at low, with but a limited demand.

The flour market to-day displayed more activity at former prices $1,05,000 for fair to extra choice spring brands. Wheat was in better demand, and the market was considerably firmer, in some instances an advance of $6 being paid. The steamer's news in the lace of small receipts, seemed to have no effect. In corn we report another decline of 1c, under heavy receipts—size being made at a range of 4-24 flo for No. 1: 425,604 for for No. 2; and 41c for Rejected. Onto were also duil, and buyers had the advantage—the market range of from 14,634 for 15 for No. 1: 425,604 for for No. 2; and 41c for Rejected. Onto were also duil, and buyers had the market was rather heavy—sales being made at $1,00 milled request, and the market was rather heavy—sales of No. 1 being made at $1,00 milled request, and the market was rather heavy—sales of No. 1 being made at $1,00 milled request, and the market was rather heavy—sales of No. 1 being made at $1,00 milled request.
